

What next?

Talking together about new ideas and next steps for participatory research

Seminar

Hosted jointly by Exeter University and The Open University

The Open University in London, 1-11 Hawley Crescent, Camden Town, London NW1 8NP.

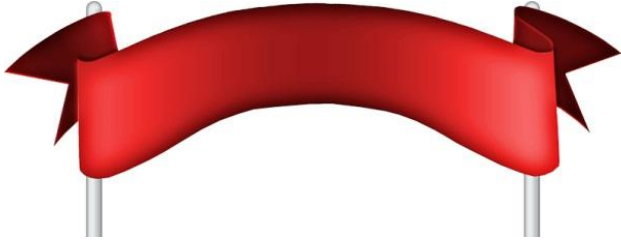

November 11th 2014

This is the fifth and final event in an ESRC funded Seminar Series

Towards Equal and active citizenship: pushing the boundaries of participatory research with people with learning disabilities

Morning Programme

Activity Title	Timing	Led by

Welcome and Introduction	10.00-10.10	Jane Seale
Part 1: Analysis and Feedback We will talk about the issues raised across the seminar series. Jane will present the project team's thoughts. We will then invite you to share your ideas and comments.	10.10-11.15 	Jane Seale
BREAK	11.15-11.30
Part 2: Brainstorm Liz will lead a 'brainstorm' session. We would like to create a resource that helps more people get involved in participatory research. We would like to hear your ideas about what would be most useful, and how we could do it.	11.30-12.30 	Liz Tilley

Afternoon Programme

LUNCH	12.30-1.15
Part 3: Shared problem-solving Participants are invited to send ahead 'problems' that are bothering them in relation to doing participatory research. We will select a few for discussion on the day in small groups. This will help us to work through real challenges together and share our ideas so we can all learn.	1.15-2.45 	Melanie Nind
TEA AND CLOSE	2.45-3.00

Slides and notes from the previous four seminars can be found at:
<http://participat.blogspot.co.uk>