About this booklet

Lots of people with learning disabilities have difficulties with communication.

Good communication helps people to...

- Understand
- Express themselves
- Make choices and decisions
- Do more things for themselves
- Have more control of their lives
- Stay safe
- Be included
- Enjoy being with other people

Standards tell people about good ways of doing things - what things should be like, and what should be happening.

The 5 Good Communication Standards has been written to help people to know...

- What good communication looks like.
- Whether good communication is happening.
- About some useful resources.

You can use the checklists in this booklet to check the support that you are getting with your communication.

If you think that you need more support with your communication you can talk to someone you trust. This might be...

- A member of your family
- A friend
- A support worker
- An advocate
- A social worker

You can also ask for help from your local Speech and Language Therapy Service.
